UNIVERSITY OF LINCOLN JOB DESCRIPTION

JOB TITLE	Lecturer – Earth Surface Processes
DEPARTMENT	School of Geography
LOCATION	Brayford
JOB NUMBER	COS722	GRADE	7	DATE	December 2019
REPORTS TO	Head of School

CONTEXT

Established in September 2016 by its foundational head Professor Mark G Macklin, the School of Geography at the University of Lincoln represents one of the “most significant investments in UK university geography for a generation” (Dr Rita Gardner CBE, former director of the Royal Geographical Society). The school currently has 146 undergraduate and postgraduate students, 20 academic, research and support staff, and its first cohort of undergraduates will graduate in September 2020. We are particularly proud of our demographically and internationally diverse academic team, who bring global reach to both their research and teaching, and are soon to be joined by a new chair of Human Geography. We have established a core interdisciplinary research centre, the Lincoln Centre of Water and Planetary Health (LCWPH), the first of its kind in the UK, and have recently appointed Professor Chris J Thomas (Global Chair in Water and Planetary Health) as co-director alongside Professor Macklin. The LCWPH focuses on solving the most pressing global environmental and societal problems emerging from the world’s largest rivers. These include climate change impacts on extreme floods and droughts, flood-related contamination from metal mining and processing, and water-borne diseases affecting humans and animals where riverine environments provide the principle habitat. An emerging area of interest is in environmental flows of antibiotic contaminants and subsequent spatial evolutionary ecology of antimicrobial resistance.

JOB PURPOSE

General

- To work with colleagues on curriculum development and the advancement of relevant discipline areas within the University
- To plan, design and deliver teaching within programmes in relevant discipline areas
- To undertake student tutoring and support
- To contribute to the research profile of the School
- To carry out other activities in support of the academic work of the department

Specific to this post upon appointment:

The successful candidate will be expected to:

- Bring subject expertise to the School, but also be prepared to be flexible and potentially teach across other programmes

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES

The responsibilities of a Lecturer are wide ranging and may change over time according to the development needs of the department and the individual. In general a Lecturer can expect to undertake any of the following:

Teaching and Learning Support

- To engage in teaching on undergraduate and/or postgraduate level programmes as determined by the Head of Department. The range of teaching duties may change from time to time.
- Contribute to the design, content and delivery of specific areas of teaching and learning and to the quality of teaching delivered.
- Collaborate with colleagues in the continuous review and development of the Department's programmes.
- Take responsibility for the co-ordination of modules when appropriate to do so and after gaining sufficient relevant experience.
- Work in accordance with University policies and procedures to undertake assessment of students' work and give feedback.

Research and Scholarly Activity

- Make a contribution to the research profile of the Department, School or College and pursue a personal research programme consistent with the Department's research priorities.
- Collaborate in research activities and initiatives with colleagues in and beyond the department if appropriate.
- Engage in subject professional and pedagogy research as required to support teaching activities.
- Ensure that outcomes of research and scholarly activity are appropriately disseminated in peer reviewed outlets.
- Have sufficient outputs to be returned in the REF at agreed minimum standards inclusive of complex circumstances, or at least demonstrate a clear and achievable plan to secure a return if an early career researcher.
- Apply for grant funding and manage, as appropriate, any grants which are secured.

Liaison and Networking

- Establish contacts within the wider community where possible and begin to form relationships for future collaboration.
- Develop links with relevant professional bodies and academic groups.
- Develop involvement in academic activities with industry and other external partners.

- Take part in relevant internal committees and working groups.
- Liaise with subject librarians, central timetabling and other services to ensure resources available are appropriately deployed.

Team Working

- Work as a member of a team, collaborating on curriculum development and contributing to departmental meetings.
- Begin to co-ordinate the work of others when appropriate through taking responsibility for module co-ordination.

Student Support

- Act as academic tutor to students as allocated by the Head of Department and act as first line contact for them for advice and support on academic matters, ensuring that students are directed to relevant support services when necessary.
- Take part in the supervision of research degree students as appropriate.
- Supervise student projects and placements as appropriate.

Citizenship

- Contribute to the wider mission and reputation of the University with active involvement in activities contributing to general university life e.g. open days, student activities, alumni events, mentoring, personal tutoring and engagement with student support and delivery of outreach activities e.g. school visits, local community activities
- Active participation in committees/groups contributing to university life e.g. health and safety, equality diversity and inclusivity, sustainability and working groups
- Engage in appropriate training programmes in the University, actively follow and promote University policies and participation in the staff appraisal scheme and yearly Individual Research Plan (IRP)
- Contribution to the future development of the University and support the University's wider social, cultural and economic development of our region, our 'civic' mission with engagement and/or leadership of external partnerships contributing to the civic mission of the University. Participation in external activities such as volunteering, school governor, cultural activities, community activities

In addition to the above, undertake such duties as may reasonably be requested and that are commensurate with the nature and grade of the post.
